Sunday, July 6 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"Acts of Patriotism"

Open mike service with Maura Brennan and Alice Hansen; Vocal Trio: Cindy Edmonson, Shelley Burnes and Nancy Landfair, with guitarist John Bachman and violinist Chris Williams, and pianist Mercedes Kimling.

One person's act of patriotism is another's act of desecration. Is the Patriot Act really patriotic? Can dissent be patriotic? On this fourth of July weekend we will explore this emotionally charged issue, and try to find common ground and respect, which is, of course, the cornerstone of peace.

Sunday, July 13 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"A Healing Community"

Anne Hughes, Rev. Chip; Dominic, a young percussionist from Uganda

John Schneider describes the essential elements of a healing community in this way: safety, sanctuary, validation, respite, courage/integrity, challenge/inspiration and celebration. This week, we welcome to our congregational community a young man from Uganda. Dominic is a musician, a student and a teenager. A portion of his life story is told in the movie War Dance. If you have seen this movie...you must wonder as I do...what helped him rise above almost unimaginable grief and loss to find healing?

Sunday, July 20 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"Speaking Peace"

Lori Gray Boothroyd; R. Gary Deavel, piano

Non-violent Communication (NVC), a model developed by Marshall Rosenberg during the Civil Rights era, provides a source of inspiration for engaging in compassionate, heartfelt communication with others. When we experience conflict, how can we speak from the heart, creating connection and understanding? NVC offers possibilities for creating community that nurtures learning as well as authentic connection.

Sunday, July 27 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"Islam"

Rawan Sobuh; Aneka Saxon, flute (granddaughter of Bonnie and Bill Mathias)

This morning Rawan Sobuh, a former practicing Muslim, will speak to us on the topic of Islam. Rawan was an exchange student from Israel, who relocated to the area, and has just graduated from NMC.

Sunday, August 3 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"Grateful Dead: One Man Gathers"

Rev. Chip; our in-house Grateful Dead band, under the guidance and leadership of Jeremy Treadwell; Mercedes Kimling, piano

This intergenerational service will feature the music and wisdom of the rock band, "The Grateful Dead." The title comes from their song, "Saint Stephen." "...talk about your plenty, talk about your ills, one man gathers what another man spills."

Sunday, August 10 — ONE SERVICE ONLY at 10:00 AM

"Bridging, Passages and Life Wisdom (Wear Sunscreen)"

As our high school graduates move into the next portion of their life journey, we will acknowledge their passage as well as our own significant life thresholds, and we'll receive the life wisdom of some of our wise members.

October 4, 2008
Save the Date ...

... for this fall's elegant Autumn Affair party!!! Plan to join us for fabulous food, electrifying entertainment, and awesome auctions (both live and silent). What can you do to make this a big success?

- Donate Food? Music? Art? Vacation home? Symphony or Beach Bum tickets?
- Bring someone from outside our UU community?
- Join a committee to plan the food, entertainment or auctions?

We'd want to hear your ideas and would really love your participation at this early planning stage. Please call...

Musings of Our Senior Minister

Medical Gray Areas
30 June 2008

I had a copy of my grandmother's "living will," and so did my mother, and my sister. We well knew that she did not want to be kept alive artificially, with machines prolonging her bodily existence without any appreciable "quality of life." However, the questions are always more complicated and more subtle—we did put her on a ventilator, temporarily, to give her lungs rest and relief. That turned out to be effective—she recovered her strength, and doctors removed the tubes that had been breathing for her. That gave her another several days where she was strong enough to participate in conversations, and say some goodbyes with her voice, not just her eyes and hands.

I urge you, please fill out a Five Wishes form. It is much more flexible than a simple "living will," and it covers many, many more potential circumstances. It isn't just "plugged/unplugged," but talks about balances, such as pain management and sharpness of mind. The more information we share, now, the better our last days may be, and the richer our time with our loved ones.

With Spirit,

the Rev. Chip Roush

ALL ABOUT US

We recognize joyfully:

- ☉ Helen Sullivan's 95th birthday.
- ☉ Betsy Tholen and Kris Hammerberg, who were married on her parents' wedding anniversary.
- ☉ Ali Gribi who won a state championship for doubles tennis.
- ☉ Ariel Love who was awarded letters in choir and orchestra and senior pins in both.
- ☉ The Memorial Reception teams coordinated by Solveig Gustafson, Judy Halsted, Candice Lee and Kay Sturgeon who provide such meaningful service.
- ☉ Bill Mathias who was Pastoral Care's June Caregiver of the Month.
- ☉ A visit from Judy Gamble Davis, a charter member of our congregation, and her husband Ethan who now live in Arizona.
- ☉ All the UU's who minister to one another, often unrecognized.

We hold in our hearts:

- ♥ Marsha Walton whose brother Wayne Groesser died June 10.

- ♥ Rev. Chip whose grandmother Dorothy Parks died June 28 while in hospice care in Kent, Ohio.
- ♥ Rev. Kevin and his mother Margaret Tarsa who are sharing the final months of her life as she struggles with pain, but enjoys the table top garden, which Kevin and Paul built for her.
- ♥ Sarah Montgomery who mourns the death of her friend Gabe Smith.
- ♥ Jim and Mary Ellen Thero who struggle with decisions about Jim's future.
- ♥ Carole Greilick whose husband Paul died recently.

We are concerned about:

- ❖ Pat Trezise who is recovering from a collapsed lung and awaiting further medical procedures.
- ❖ Ann Dressel and Carol Still who await surgery in July.
- ❖ Nancy Doughty and John Ort who are recovering from surgery.
- ❖ Mary Lee Orr who broke her hand and plans to kayak in her waterproof cast.
- ❖ Boyd Baird who continues to search for a cause of his illness.

- ❖ Martha Topol of Ahavat Shalom who is undergoing treatment for breast cancer.
- ❖ Linda Dunigan's son, Shane, in Munson after 2 surgeries, awaiting more tests.

We continue to be mindful of:

- ☼ Nancy Peterson and Mary Ann Rivers who care for elderly mothers.
- ☼ Mary Cheney who is running East Torch Lake Nursery on her own on flexible hours, so call her to set a time to visit the beautiful gardens which she and Bill created.
- ☼ Richard Myer and Kay & Bob Reinhardt who aren't able to get out very often.
- ☼ Judy Lindenau who is back home rediscovering life as a healthy woman after months of recovering from surgeries, infections, and confinement in a convalescent center.

—The Pastoral Care Team

Address Correction

A Note from the President...

An African sage writes: When you don't have community, you are not listened to.

You don't have a place you can go to and feel that you really belong.

You don't have people to affirm who you are and to support you in bringing forward your gifts.

We are in community many times each week in this congregation. Jane Watts wondered last week how many members of UUCGT realize that we have a building which is utilized "24/7" to help meet the needs of the individuals who call UUCGT home. "It is not just Sunday morning," she said, "but daily." To that end, I would like to thank the congregants who have pledged time and/or money to keep our church home vibrant and growing. Each gift is cherished and appreciated by your Board. May we remain in community for many, many years.

In Faith,

—Joan

MINDING THE STORE

A generous congregation! More than 30 members have stepped forward with additional pledges totaling more than $30,000 toward our building expansion. Thank you!

In addition, we have commitments of more than $20,000 toward paying existing pledges.

This generosity brings our building expansion a significant step closer to reality.

The Facilities and Building Team will continue to develop plans to go out for bid this fall, as the Finance Team prepares budget models.

It's not too late for you to participate! Contact the office for a pledge card, or write Paul Heaton (heatonpc@charter.net).

Used Book Sale

The Annual Used Book Sale is slated for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 22, 23, and 24. After you have read all those great books this summer, be sure to donate them to the sale. Of course, please plan to attend the sale, so you will be sure to have great winter reading at bargain prices.

—Pinkie Hoffmann and Penny Ort

Benzie Summer Services

July 9: Richard and Jan Robb will host a potluck picnic at their home at 6:30. 531 Trillium Trail, Gilmore Township. (352-9069) Rev. Ian Lawton, pastor of the Christ Community Church of Spring Lake, MI will speak on "The Role of Liberal Religion in the World Today." The Frankfort CCC North Congregation will join us. Guests are welcome.

August 6: Peg Lawrenson will host a picnic potluck at her home. 933 Crystal Drive, Frankfort (352-4113). Topic to be announced. Guests are welcome.

UU B & B

Imagine staying at a Bed & Breakfast in the home of a fellow Unitarian in a UU congregation in Rome, Italy! Kailua, Hawaii!!; or maybe just close to home like Oakpark, Chicago. You can find this in the UU B&B Directory in the UU Office. Add your home to our growing list of homes offering accommodations or have an adventure and meet other members during your many travels.

—Ron Chao (Revenue Advisory Committee)

Committee on Ministry Survey

Thanks to all of you that participated in our recent Committee Survey; we had a great response with approximately 90 members of our congregation completing the survey. The information gleaned was used to aid us in our completion of Rev. Chip's evaluation form for the UUA Ministerial Fellowship Committee. More importantly, the survey and comments provide constructive feedback to facilitate growth and vision for Rev. Chip in his Ministry at UUCGT. We appreciate the time that was taken to support our work and look forward to developing plans to implement your feedback and sharing the survey results with the congregation.

—The UUCGT Committee on Ministry:
Lori Boothroyd, Nadine Elmgren,
Rev. Chip Roush, H.G. Smith

New Online Info Offered

Coming soon to a computer near you! We will soon have the ability for our members and friends to pay their pledges, donations, and other monies online from our website, either with a direct debit to your bank account or by credit card. You will be able to make one-time or automatic recurring payments, look at the status of your giving and update your profile (phone #, address, email, etc.). We also hope to post our building use calendar on the website, so you can check for space availability for a meeting or to check on the time and place of an event. More information will be coming your way soon.

—Connie Hoffman, our "bookie"

ADULT PROGRAMS AND EVENTS

Henge of Seekers events:

The Celtic nature-spirituality group, The Henge of Seekers, is actively engaging the hearts and minds of many! We held an organizational meeting, a Full Moon Circle, and a Summer Solstice ceremony this past month—with over 25 in attendance at the Solstice. We will gather twice this month. A Full Moon Circle will be held on Saturday, July 19th at 7:30 pm. This will include a ceremony with an Eistefodd (time for sharing spiritually meaningful events, poetry, prose, etc) in our safe and sacred space. (A Henge is a protective circle in Celtic lingo.) In addition we will be finalizing our Covenant and we will discuss attuning ourselves to the natural rhythms around and within us that evening. The Henge will then host a Lughnasadh ceremony on Friday, July 28th at 8:00 pm. More details to come in the Flash and Order of Worship. All are welcome who wish to explore nature spirituality from a Celtic perspective and who will honor our sacred Selves.

—Jeffery Hawkins /\

Men's Group

UUmen will not meet in July. We will be meeting in the back room at Ruby Tuesday's on Monday, August 11 at 6:00 pm. Please put this meeting on the calendar. I don't have any idea in regard to program, but will follow up.

—John Ort

Krones and Scones . . .

... will not meet in July. The next date is Saturday, August 9. Place to be announced.

—Peg Kauffman

Wednesday Night Suppers

The following individuals have agreed to host a potluck supper at their home in the following weeks: Mary Kiner (935-3050) on July 16 and August 6; John & Penny Ort (932-8766) on July 23; and Sarah Montgomery (690-7931) on July 30. August 13, 20 and 27 are still available; if you would like to host a potluck supper on one of those dates, contact John Hoffman (275-3602) or Sally Mitchell (929-2798). July 9th is also available; perhaps a trip to the Cherry Festival food courts would be appropriate.

A Few Words about Sunday Night Meditation

Since Sunday Night Meditation began five months ago, 25 people have sat with us at various times and asked to be included in our e-mail. At present, we have a core group of 6-7 who come regularly. In the last half-hour of our time together, we're talking about the practice and—for those of us who've had a chance to read it—we're talking about Larry Rosenberg's book, Breath by Breath.

Non-meditators often have questions about the practice—What is it exactly? How is it done? What does it accomplish? Why do it in a group? In this issue of the Beacon, I'll tackle some of those questions, and follow in a future issue with others.

What is meditation? The goal of meditation is not primarily to become calm (although that is an effect of long-time meditation), but to become more aware and more alive in the moment. The sitting part of meditation is necessary to build the skill of concentration. Think of the mind/body as a pond, its muddy bottom always stirred up, its surface disturbed by waves. Then, with practice, they learn how to become quiet. Internal talk, internal visualization (pictures in our heads), and external wiggleness are diminished. The mud settles, the surface gets still, and one can see all the way down. Insights happen. One discovers, for example, how powerfully a feeling of dissatisfaction drives our lives. Over time, as we observe its effects in the body calmly and with equanimity, we notice that it becomes less a problem. Gradually, the dissatisfaction even goes away. We get happier. (Studies have found a greater activity in the "happiness" portion of the brain of long-time meditators, in comparison to non-meditators.)

What good will my meditation do in the world? A person who is not so "driven" is able to more accurately respond to the needs of others, to listen better, and to bring all the skills of concentration to his or her actions. A person who has achieved a degree of clarity (awake-ness) is more apt to see (and act upon) what really is, instead of what has been generally accepted as the truth.

There's much more to the practice, but this is a start. If you'd like to try sitting with us some Sunday evening, come at 5. Our time is divided into half-hour increments, and you may leave at any point. It's not necessary to have read the book to come. We'd love to have you join us.

—Fleda Brown, Group Facilitator

SOCIAL JUSTICE AND ACTION

Summer is a beautiful time, a time for many to enjoy family, friends visiting and playing outside. Aren't we lucky to have that opportunity? Some people throughout the world always "play" outside. They have no house and really no time for play. They spend their day gathering for coverage and the sparse food that may be available, and doing their best to obtain clean water. We are indeed lucky here in the US of A.

We also can freely object to our government and try to change it. We really do have a voice—of course we must use it. With the upcoming election there is lots to think about, decide and do. What about those with no choices, those whose government leave them stranded after cyclones ravage their homes, earthquakes leave them homeless, and hurricanes coming in from the gulf, taking their houses? What can they do? Is there anything we can do to help them? Maybe summer time can be a time for rethinking what we do, so we're ready to help those in need in a better, more successful way in the future. It is up to each of us to decide.

There are also many environmental issues. One that really is a social issue too, is bottling water from third world countries, taking their little resource of clean water, and bottling it for profit in countries where they can sell it. What do we feel about that? Do we want somebody, some company, taking our water from our great lakes? And we have other resources, now at this time at least. That may not always be true.

What about our land? Do we want it

From Our Minister of Music

Within moments of the closing words of the June 29 “Skepticism” service - in which I suggested that we liberal religious folk hold our beliefs lightly enough to be able to let go of them, and in which I invited us to get the conversations about our theological differences out on top of the table rather than ignoring the elephant in the room (I leave it to you to sort out the metaphors) — several people had approached me to offer their slightly different take on the reality of this religious endeavor. They did so very thoughtfully. How wonderful!

One person suggested that “belief” was a misplaced conversational focus, that our beliefs don’t matter as much as how we live.

One person asked if I really believed everything I had just said.

One person said, “I guess I’m not a good UU” and offered that some people might be quite sure and comfortable in their beliefs, but choose to attend our church because they know that they can be more open about those beliefs here, or because two persons in a couple differ in their beliefs and choose Unitarian Universalism as safe ground.

Several people conspicuously complimented the music, and or the large elephant we had built and said absolutely nothing about the sermon. (I have learned that there is no such thing as a “lack of communication” when people encounter each other.)

All of this is encouraging to me. What comes across so strongly, is that there are rich and rewarding, if not always easy, conversations to be had. I am not the repository of truth and you do not need to take my word for what UU-ism or this congregation is or is not. That’s the point. And if I can instigate some communal wrestling with the question of who we are and what we are about, I will consider my efforts a success. I look forward to hearing your ideas, thoughts, and challenges, especially if you found yourself reluctant to say something about the sermon. What is on your mind and in your heart?

(My year of half-time employment at UU begins July 1. I’ll be at UUCGT from 9 am to 9 pm most Tuesdays, at services every other Sunday, and in and out of the office and rehearsals for the remainder of my weekly hours. I have come to enjoy and appreciate “grocery store aisle conversations,” don’t hesitate to strike up a conversation when we are out and about....or not.)

Yours,

Rev. Kevin Tarsa

all built upon? Do we want the land filled with trash? In many areas of our nation the trash is sent to poorer parts to dump or onto reservations. Is that right? Do we want the land and waters littered with plastic bags and bottles, many of which trap and suffocate small animals, fish, and birds?

What about our fellow humans? Do all deserve good health care? Should medical care be more equitably available, or only for those who can pay or afford insurance? Is that the humane way, or even call it the moral way? As the saying goes— “What would Jesus do?” And what about torture? The list goes on. Although the SJA group is more quiet in the summer this year, we are revamping how we will function in the coming year, so more of us can be comfortable working for common goals together. What issues would you like to tackle with your fellow UUsers? Think of what ones you could back and join en force. Let us know and together “we shall overcome!”

The RE SCOOP

As I write this column outside my hotel in Fort Lauderdale, a humid breeze is tickling the palm trees, and the sky is flashing with heat lightning.

There is metaphorical heat as well at General Assembly, the annual meeting of the Unitarian Universalist Association of Congregations, which I am privileged to attend as your DRE. It is a heat of love for our faith and each other, passion for social justice, hunger for a deeper spirituality, and desire to create a better world.

I have attended:

- the professional day of the Liberal Religious Educators Association, which focused on RE activities that help children to connect with nature
- workshops about how we experience music and sensitivity to cultural misappropriation of music; about Our Whole Lives Sexuality Education; about creating multi-generational worship and dynamic worship with children and youth; and more
- plenary sessions, the denomination’s business meetings, moderated by Gini Courter, a member of our congregation. We voted on a resolution for the Youth and Young Adult Ministry of our denomination, and an issue that all UUA congregations will study and take action on in the next few years
- moving and transformational worship services
- a wondrous concert by the Reverend Meg Barnhouse, who wrote the beautiful song “All Will Be Well,” which we’ve sung at our services.
- a meeting with Harlan Limpert, UUA Director of District Services. Harlan and I are working together on another CD of inspirational essays for lay congregational leaders.

Mostly, I love being in the presence of 2,000 UUs. I love networking with DREs, ministers, and musicians. How good it is to realize that our UU congregation is a part of a larger movement, a bigger group of loving souls working toward compassion and justice! Together, we are more and can do more than alone.

ODDS AND ENDS

International Youth Exchange

Aspect Foundation is currently seeking volunteer host families for international exchange students from nearly 30 countries. These students are aged 15-18, speak English, and have their own spending money and insurance. While students come with a variety of skills and interests, their common desire is to be part of a family, a community and a school. UU would offer much to any visiting student fortunate enough to be involved in the fellowship.

Aspect Foundation is a non-profit organization founded in 1985 to bridge cultures through international youth exchange. Aspect is fully recognized by the Dept of State and the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIAET).

Exchange student matches offer are a win-win opportunity for the student, the family, school, community, and congregation! For more information, please contact Pam Woolcott at 264-6105 or visit www.aspectfoundation.org.
