"Love Will Guide Us"

Sarah Montgomery

How does love guide you? What helps you to be a loving person? What feeds your spirit and helps you to operate from a "place of love" from which you are better able to share unconditional loving-kindness with the world? This multigenerational service invites all ages to explore these questions as we begin a month of services helping us to think about "LOVE".

"The Courage to Love"

Rev. Dr. Leisa Huyck

For some people, finding and living the love of their dreams—whether it is for a partner, children, friends, or pets—takes enormous courage. Come hear and be inspired by true stories of courageous love.

"Sex, Love and Spirituality"

Dr. Ann Marie Love

Ah, Love. It has the power to transform. Psychologists see a fruitful romantic relationship as one of the primary tasks of adulthood. But where can we humans get ourselves into more trouble than with love, sex and all the emotional chaos that comes with them? For example, can you really love someone if you don't love yourself? Dr. Ann Marie Love will share what she has learned along the way while teaching university human sexuality classes, and providing couple and sex therapy.

"The Choice to Love"

Rev. Dr. Leisa Huyck

Why is it so important that women have control over their own bodies and their own reproductive lives? What do our UU principles and theo/ologies have to say about this question? Why should all people—even those who are not women of reproductive age—care about it? Come learn why the UUA adopted Reproductive Justice as a Study-Action issue this past summer, as we think about the 40th anniversary of the Roe v. Wade decision.

Rev. Leisa's Reflections

Love Will Guide Us

One of the more interesting results of the Vision Café last fall was how many people noted that they would like to have some form of downtown presence. You want to make this religion in which love is the guiding force—love for all people and for our beautiful planet— more visible. You want to make it more available to people who might be hungering for it in this region.

Increasing your downtown presence could be accomplished in a number of ways. One would be the way already described in the summary “Congregational Vision” published last month: to rent space downtown, in addition to using the current facilities for more kinds of ministry.

Another way, suggested by several congregants, would be to sell the Center Road property and move downtown completely.

How will this congregation make these kinds of decisions? How will you decide what ministries to undertake and how to undertake them? How will you decide what your priorities are? Your vision for the future is beautiful—how will you reach it?

If you had a mission, you would have some automatic criteria for making decisions. Does a proposed new ministry, or action, fulfill the mission, or not? The mission is the golden thread at the heart of your vision; it says what you are trying to accomplish. It says what the point of it all is.

In addition, having a mission that everyone knows, and to which everyone is dedicated, gives a congregation a shared sense of purpose and excitement. This can carry a congregation through all kinds of changes, as you seek to fulfill your mission together.

Your Board of Trustees and Interim Minister are hard at work putting together a Mission Café, to be held in March, during Stewardship Month. The purpose of the Mission Café will be for you to develop a mission statement that the whole congregation will vote on at your annual meeting. Let love guide you as you discover your mission. I look forward to seeing what unfolds.

Blessings,

Rev. Leisa

From the President...

Cheers all around and celebration for David Halsted and Sarah Montgomery, for the well deserved recognition of the 2012 Jim and Ruth Gambel award for continuing service to our congregation. Congratulations and thank you David and Sarah.

At our January 16 meeting, the Board adopted three policies dealing with risk management prepared by Joe Cook relative to recommendations by our insurance carrier. They pertain to use of private vehicles used for church business, proof of insurance for all paid contractors, and background checks for new employees. Our thanks to Joe for this effort.

The board approved Jalene Moore as chair of the Sunday Service Committee. The Board also appointed Price Watts to fill the remaining term of Marcia Bellinger on the Endowment Committee. We thank Jalene and Price for the work that they do for our congregation.

The Board wrote in support of the application of the Community Access Line of the Lakeshore for the assignment of the telephone digits 2-1-1 for the information and referral answering point for health and human services needs.

The Board adopted new provisions describing responsibilities of The Leadership Development Committee. Thanks to the LDC and the Board liaison Cal Boulter.

Climate Change Discussion Group Summary By Cheryl Bartz

Almost twice as many people as expected signed up for the climate change discussions that took place in January. (Well, actually, the fourth session had to be postponed until February due to the weather!) The discussions were informative and encouraging and possible actions are emerging from the conversations.

Some people will be heading to Washington, D.C. for a demonstration against the Keystone XL Pipeline which would transport oil from the Canadian tar sands to the Gulf Coast for export to other nations. The demonstration is Feb. 17, so if you're interested in going, email UUCGT member Maura Brennan at SustainableTC@gmail.com as soon as possible to reserve a seat on the bus.

If there is enough interest, another series of climate change conversations will be scheduled for later in the spring. If you're interested in participating, please send an email to cherylbartz@hotmail.com.

Community Needs Committee

The Local Community Needs Committee met on 1/18/2013 and approved donations of $175.00 to Grace Episcopal Jubilee House and $175.00 to Grace Episcopal Food Pantry. The Jubilee House provides a warm place for homeless during the daytime hours when Safe Harbor is not open. Services also available are laundry facilities, showers and personal storage bins. They can receive mail there and use the computers. When we receive more information, we also plan to donate to the Empty Bowls program, which is part of the Fresh Food Partnership. Thank-you notes from previous donations are posted on the wall in the social hall. There are also donation forms anyone can complete to request consideration for donations to a local project. Please put the completed forms in the mailbox for the Community Needs Committee. Our next meeting will be April 19, 2013 at UUCGT at 11:00 am.

AN APPEAL FOR CARE FROM THE CONGREGATION:

If you have some time and have a car and wish to help with some transportation, or shopping, pick up medication, take someone to a Dr.'s appt., sit with a person at home and give their caretaker time for some respite care from time-to-time, then you can do one of three things:

1. Call Pastoral Care 231-947-9124.

Lifespan Religious Education Update

“Being deeply loved by someone gives you strength, while loving someone deeply gives you courage.”
- Lao Tzu

I am so happy to share with you just a few of the many exciting things that are happening in Lifespan Religious Education at UUCGT!

Religious Education and Programming for Children, Youth, and Families!!

Here are just a few highlights for your reading pleasure:

Both our Beatrix Potter Group (approx 3-6yrs) and our Christopher Reeve Group (approx 7-11yrs) have been spending time exploring themes of love, kindness and peace through their “Picture book UU” and “Love Will Guide Us” curricula respectively. We ended the month of January by preparing for the multigenerational service on 2/3 entitled “Love Will Guide Us.”

Susan B. Anthony Group (Middle and High School) – Our youth continue to explore spiritual and religious traditions from around the world and have begun the year studying Buddhism. We will take a brief break in mid February to celebrate the ideals of tolerance and diversity during Black History month in conjunction with the series of events taking place throughout Traverse City thru the beginning of March.

Our families had a great time at our “Friday Night Out” on January 11th! Our next “Friday Night Out” will be February 8th! It is so wonderful to have this successful program which tends to the needs of families – both current and new. Please contact me for more information, or contact the office to reserve a spot – space is limited! Spread the word to families who may not currently attend UUCGT as well!

DON'T FORGET about the amazing opportunity we each have to build community at Wednesday Night Suppers! Attendance of young families and children at these suppers is up, and it is a wonderful way to spend time with your UUCGT community and strengthen the bonds we each build in other ways throughout the week. Check your FLASH for details regarding potluck info or cost. Social time begins at 5:30, with supper from 6-7pm! A night without having to figure out what's for dinner... who doesn't love that?!?!?

Adult Programming!

The course organized by Cheryl Bartz from the Northwest Earth Institute called “Global Warming: Changing Course” was a huge success drawing participants from throughout the UUCGT and wider Grand Traverse community. We thank Cheryl for all that she has done to lead such a wonderful learning opportunity.

Our Wednesday Night Programming on the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays of the month has a great new title – “Wednesday Colloquium”! I'm pleased to announce that our for our February Colloquium speakers we have on Feb 13: Valerie Kim-Diemsing who will speak about the Women's Resource Center and potentially Ryan Hannon from Goodwill Industries on 2/27.

Our Congregational Wednesday Night presenters this month will be the Stewardship Committee on 2/6 leading a discussion regarding “How Much is Enough” and Ron Yatich on 2/20. All Wednesday programming begins at 7pm.

Don't forget – the “Brewing Community” group meets the last Thursday of every month at Right Brain Brewery. This is a purely social event, so come “brew” some great conversation! Bring a friend!!

UUCGT Talent Show!

WE ARE IN DESPERATE NEED OF ACTS!! Both adults and children are invited to perform in this event!!

The RE Committee is planning to host an evening talent showcase featuring dancers, singers, comedians and much more on Saturday March 9th! This elegant evening will include appetizers and beverages, with suggested donations to support our efforts to raise funds for commercial playground equipment for the congregation. Don't want to perform? Do you have a “TALENT” for cooking? Show off your skill by donating your BEST appetizer the evening of the event!! If you or someone you know is interested, please contact me ASAP. We need to make a decision regarding the future of this event very soon.

A very special thank you to everyone who has already volunteered in religious education, as well as to those who have recently signed up. The work we do is incredibly important for ALL AGES and can only strengthen our community. Together we are building a more peaceful, just and compassionate world by fostering learning and social interaction in a variety of ways.

It has been another amazing month in Religious Education with fantastic new things happening everyday! Keep an eye on your FLASH for the most up-to-the-moment details regarding the happenings at UUCGT! Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

In Peace

Stewardship

Colloquium Feb 6 How Much is Enough?

What's a sustainable amount that would allow everyone to live with dignity? How does how much I have affect how much others have? How does the way I spend my money reflect my values? Not a lecture, rather a conversation about "stuff." Wed. Feb. 6, 7:00 p.m.

Stewardship Quiz

At the Volunteer Fair on Jan. 13, the Stewardship Committee offered the chance to take a quiz and possibly win a bag o' gold or silver (covered chocolate). Want to take the quiz? Here are the questions:

1. What does stewardship mean to you?
2. In what ways do you or could you contribute to the well-being of the UUCGT?
3. What is the connection between stewardship and the pledge drive?
4. What was the total amount pledged to UUCGT for the current year?
5. How many members belong to UUCGT?

The answers to the quiz will appear in the March Beacon, so you'll have lots of time to meditate on the questions! Meanwhile, the winners—drawn from all those submitting quizzes at the Fair—are Jackie McDonald and Marco Cabrera and family!

Taboo

Did your family have a secret? You know—one of those subjects no one was supposed to know about, let alone talk about? Or have you read about families with a Big Secret that ending up distorting relationships and making things worse? And maybe when the adult children finally found out The Secret, they wondered why their parents had struggled so hard to keep it a secret.

It seems that money is a taboo topic in the UUCGT family! We're not the only UU congregation that talks about money as little as possible and then often euphemistically. But why are we trying to keep it a secret? UUCGT members and friends give generously to the church. That's something to celebrate!

If you read the literature on congregational giving, it turns out that the more open a congregation is about money, the more successful their pledging toward the congregation's vision. So let's lift the veil of secrecy, eh?

When I gave the offertory words in January, I said I give 5% of my income annually to UUCGT because it is so important to me to have this family of choice—to work on social justice issues together, and for the emotional support I receive from being in community with you. In the past year, others in our congregation have shared what is most important to them about this congregation and that they give 3, 5, 7 or even 8 percent of their income to UUCGT.

How about you? What moves you to contribute to UUCGT? If you would like to share your thoughts on what you love about UUCGT and Unitarian Universalism please let me know. I look forward to hearing from you.

Cheryl Bartz
Stewardship Committee

MUSICAL NOTES

Choosing Music-- Who Picked That Hymn, Anyway?

From the Music Director's Notebook:

- It's Sunday, after the service, and I'm pulling on my boots. A congregant stops by to say how much she enjoyed the Vocal Ensemble, but mentions that most of the hymns were slow and boring. How will we ever attract young families, she wonders, if our music is so old-fashioned?
- The Vocal Ensemble is running through a challenging hymn before a Sunday service. We sing one verse--then two hands go up. The first person notes that the tempo is dragging. The second person makes the opposite observation--we need to sing it slower, or the congregation won't be able to keep up with the words.
- I am consulting with a guest speaker about the best music for his talk at an upcoming service. He mentions two hymns he'd like to include. I am not familiar with either one, and the UUCGT hasn't sung them in the previous year. He's astonished--he's certain that "all UUs" know these songs.

There are lots more stories like this. In fact, as Music Director, I hear plaudits and complaints every Sunday--too fast, too slow, too old, too new, same-old and too strange. And more.

It's a balancing act, this choosing music for Sunday services. What fits the meaning and message in the sermon? How recently did we sing this "old familiar?" How many times will we need to sing this appealing song that nobody seems to know, before it becomes a favorite? How to lead the singing on a new hymn when there's nobody else to play the piano? I'm doing my best! Because reaching everyone musically--at least sometimes--is the most important part of my job.

A couple of things to keep in mind:

- Tastes are different. There are a number of folks who wish the teal hymnals had never made an appearance in the sanctuary. And an equal number who actively dislike hymn tunes and prefer contemporary and folk songs, as well as pop-like piano arrangements.
- Some people think there's no such thing as "too much music" and others wish we could limit the hymns to a single verse.
- All music, in both hymnals, has preferred metronomic tempos listed, and our pianists try to follow those.
- As staid as the traditional hymnody may seem to some, Unitarian Universalists have a vastly wider and richer range of music to choose from, including both time-honored hymn tunes as well as folk, classical and popular genres. It's easier here to build a repertoire of beloved and meaningful music, tailored to a congregation's preferences.

Keep your comments and suggestions coming! The goal is to sing and play music that touches everyone, that illuminates the messages chosen by our minister and guest speakers.

SOCIAL JUSTICE AND ACTION

The election is over and we hope that it is finished this time. Last election, the fighting continued for the next four years. Now we need to get work done. If you are particularly interested in an issue, please let me know. SJA covers a broad range of topics. It really depends on what interests people here at UU.

In The Flash last week and this, you received a notice about gun control. Following the events at Sandy Hook Elementary School, there has been much heightened interest in gun control. We suggested that if you feel strongly about the issue, you should let your legislators know. Many, most, of our Social Justice issues have political ramifications. Speaking out about our feelings on these issues is part of our action and responsibility as socially aware people.

Immigration rights is another important issue where we also need to be politically outspoken. It is important to let our legislators know what we think. We have several people here in the congregation becoming more involved in this problem. Please come join us. Many see immigration as a human rights issue similar to the rights of other minorities. It fits into our UU principles of valuing and honoring the rights of all peoples. Some may see it as a pure legal problem. There are many ideas on the subject. Get educated and help us all learn more so we can act responsibly. Know your thoughts and call, email your legislators.

Fiscal responsibility is something we as individuals, family, and a congregation must practice all the time. Is our government doing what you want it to, in the way you want it to manage the problems? Are the income and spending balanced the way you want it to balance? Is it fair in your eyes? Whether we take care of the needy in our community, our state, our country, our world, is a very large current social justice issue!! Again, speak up whether you agree or disagree.

There are many social justice issues currently being debated and decided in our government. Guns, immigration, the needs of less advantaged are just a few. From time to time, look for ideas in our Flash of reminders for action if you are inclined and able. We will only deal with those issues that are really social justice issues and have multiple ramifications for actions. They are the same as our UU principles. We look forward to hearing more from you and working together.

2013 Gamble Award

Presented at the Service on January 13, 2013

The Ruth and Jim Gamble service award is our annual tradition of honoring two of our departed elders who taught us much about service. Each year one or two individuals are recognized for carrying on the Gamble's legacy of service. Honestly, since so many do so much at UUCGT, it's a difficult task to select individuals for the award. The two worthy individuals we will honor today are so different that you could consider them bookends for their stories of service. (You'll understand in a moment).

The first Gamble award this year is given to an individual who has been a member of the Congregation since it was a Fellowship. After joining, involvement was immediate with RE (committee and teaching). Service history also includes a two-year term as President and several other stints of board duty including Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer. He has also served many years on the Leadership Development Committee, including time as chair. The best description of this member's work on the Facilities Team comes from his letter of nomination: "I see him in the church day after day, year after year, mowing, watering, cleaning, and working in the yard and garden. I see him on his hands and knees patching the pavement, digging trenches, and wiring lights". For his many years of service, this Gamble award is presented to David Halsted.

The second Gamble award this year is given to an individual who hasn't been a member nearly as long as David, but has nonetheless demonstrated the same spirit of service. This individual's involvement with numerous committees and activities was immediate and lengthy: 1) RE, both as a committee member and teacher; 2) Safe Harbor, as a dinner coordinator and cook; 3) Tuesday lunch, as a volunteer and cook; 4) Leadership Development, as a committee member, 5) Soup lunch organizer, and 6) Wednesday night supper, often cooking the meal, and subbing as coordinator and program organizer, always with youthful enthusiasm and a smile. This individual also serves as the guiding spiritual force and organizer of UUCGT's Nature Based Religion group, planning and coordinating Full Moon, Solstice and Sunday services. Oh, and if you suddenly need a highly dedicated and capable individual to serve as your acting DRE, this is your person. For her spirit of service and her inability to say "No" this Gamble Award is presented to Sarah Montgomery.

Gamble Award History

The Jim & Ruth Gamble Service Award was instigated in the fall of 1993 by the Board of Directors. It is named after the first honorees, Ruth and Jim Gamble, who received the award during the service dedicating this building in September 1993. Its purpose is to recognize one or two people each year who have served our congregation well, typically in more than one area, as strong and dependable volunteers, just like its namesakes have done for so long.

Awardees receive a pin in the shape of a key to honor Jim & Ruth's long tenure as "turnkeys" at our previous home at 5th & Oak. They would arrive early each Sunday to unlock the building, make coffee and warm up the building before services. After we moved into our permanent home, the Gambles continued to care for the building and grounds as well as serve on various committees and the board.

Each year the new honorees are selected by the recipients from the three previous years.
